INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE

Hanoi, Vietnam

June 11-13, 2012

Asian & Pacific Islands Social Work Educators Association (APISWEA) of CSWE in the United States, in co-sponsorship with San Jose State University and Vietnam National University in Hanoi ask you to SAVE THE DATE, June 11-13, 2012, for the annual API International Social Work Conference, which will be held in Hanoi, Vietnam.

This conference aims at broadening international applications of contemporary ideas, knowledge, skills and values of social work education, practice, research and policy; including but not limited to children and family welfare, mental health, and community development. It also aims at enhancing mutual sharing of social work scholarship between the international community and Vietnam, where social work is still in its infancy. The conference organizers encourage the exchange of diverse experiences, ideas, and evidence-based research in promoting collaboration and advancement of global welfare and professional social work.

Detailed conference information and CALL FOR PRESENTATIONS will be sent out soon. Please contact conference chairs for questions and comments.
