Counseling & Treating People of Colour: An International Perspective

The Coach Powell Youth Leadership Academy

For Youth 13 to 17 years old

Leaders: Alfred “Coach” Powell, Director of The Coach Powell Youth Leadership Academy, Dayton, Ohio

Pamela Lightsey, CSW, Former Senior Education Specialist, Child Welfare Training Program, School of Social Welfare, Stony Brook University, Stony Brook New York

Prospective youth leaders will discuss timely issues such as drugs, HIV/AIDS, STDs, alcohol, dating, violence and peer pressure, as well as their career/educational goals and community/family responsibilities. An off-site cultural immersion experience including cross cultural dialogues will be included.

Prospective leaders will also have the opportunity to work closely with Alfred “Coach” Powell who is responsible for training over 10,000 young people in the art of peer youth leadership.

The College/University Student Academy

Open to anyone who is an undergraduate in a college/university.

Leaders: Allison Robbins, J.D., Project Field Coordinator
National Treasury Employees Union, New York, NY

Felix Adeyeye, M.A., Special Assistant to the Supervisor for the Town of Islip, Islip, New York

Advisors: Cheryl D. Hamilton, M.A., Director AIM (EOP), Stony Brook University
Stony Brook, New York

Alfred “Coach” Powell, Clinical Associate Professor, School of Social Welfare, Stony Brook University, Stony Brook, NY; Director, The Coach Powell Youth Leadership Academy

Participants of the Student Academy will share in a unique multi-cultural, multi-religious and multi-talented experience. Students will discuss the role of leadership in a global society while networking with their peers from around the world who are on the move and making a difference.

The Academy will provide a broader awareness of the six conference focus areas (health, mental health, substance abuse, violence, education and HIV/AIDS) as they exist within the college/university environment. It will empower students with the tools necessary to take control of their lives and their health, and to help encourage others in their communities to do the same.

An off-site recreational “immersion experience” including cross cultural dialogues will be provided.
