College of Health and Social Services

Director, School of Social Work

The School of Social Work, located within the College of Health and Social Services, offers CSWE-accredited BSW and MSW programs in Las Cruces and Albuquerque. Faculty members teach across both programs through traditional and distance education methods.

The Director will represent the School to educational, clinical, research, donors, and policy partners. Additionally, the Director will enhance the academic, research, and operational performance of the accredited social work program. By helping develop NMSU's strategic partnerships, the Director will continue to raise the profile of the School to be an international leader in the advancement of social work science, education, practice, and policy. Must have the ability to foster programmatic growth through innovation, collaboration, and technology development. Must be able to coordinate the ongoing mentor model under which faculty develop their areas of interest, expertise, and development of leadership opportunities. Expectations include continued full compliance with CSWE accreditation requirements.

Minimum qualifications include an earned doctorate in social work or closely related field of study, Associate Professor rank (Full rank preferred), a Master of Social Work degree from a CSWE accredited school of social work, a minimum of three years advanced leadership experience, administrative experience in a CSWE accredited social work program at the graduate and undergraduate levels, experience with program accreditation, and a significant record of teaching, research, and publication in peer reviewed journals. Being able to provide assistance to faculty and students applying for external research grants and opportunities is critical. Experience in working with community partners in fundraising is a plus. Since we are a Hispanic-serving institution, demonstration of cultural awareness and understanding as well as leadership in responsively addressing educational needs of diverse groups is very important. The demonstration of leadership in promoting and supporting curriculum design that integrates theory and practice in the classroom, online and distance courses and field is required.

New Mexico State University is a research-intensive minority and Hispanic-serving institution. NMSU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and members of underrepresented minority groups are encouraged to apply. Offer of employment is contingent upon verification of eligibility for employment in the US and upon completion of a successful background review.
