Explicit Curriculum: Competency 3

Competency 3: Engage Anti-Racism, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (ADEI) in Practice

Social workers understand how racism and oppression shape human experiences and how these two constructs influence practice at the individual, family, group, organizational, and community levels and in policy and research. Social workers understand the pervasive impact of White supremacy and privilege and use their knowledge, awareness, and skills to engage in anti-racist practice. Social workers understand how diversity and intersectionality shape human experiences and identity development and affect equity and inclusion. The dimensions of diversity are understood as the intersectionality of factors including but not limited to age, caste, class, color, culture, disability and ability, ethnicity, gender, gender identity and expression, generational status, immigration status, legal status, marital status, political ideology, race, nationality, religion and spirituality, sex, sexual orientation, and tribal sovereign status. Social workers understand that this intersectionality means that a person’s life experiences may include oppression, poverty, marginalization, and alienation as well as privilege and power. Social workers understand the societal and historical roots of social and racial injustices and the forms and mechanisms of oppression and discrimination. Social workers understand cultural humility and recognize the extent to which a culture’s structures and values, including social, economic, political, racial, technological, and cultural exclusions, may create privilege and power resulting in systemic oppression.

Social workers:

a. demonstrate anti-racist and anti-oppressive social work practice at the individual, family, group, organizational, community, research, and policy levels; and

b. demonstrate cultural humility by applying critical reflection, self-awareness, and self-regulation to manage the influence of bias, power, privilege, and values in working with clients and constituencies, acknowledging them as experts of their own lived experiences.

ADEI Assessment: Explicit Curriculum

Competency-Based Assessment
• ADEI competency
• At least two instruments
• One assessment in real or simulated demonstration of achievement in field education
• Program sets benchmarks
• Program faculty or field personnel assess student

Key Element for Reporting/Evaluation
✓ Method of analyzing outcomes
✓ Process to formally review the assessment plan and outcomes related to student achievement of the nine social work competencies
✓ Program makes specific changes to its explicit curriculum based on its outcomes, with clear links to data (continuous improvement framework)

NACAC Guidance for Institutions

- Remain focused and clear on advancing diversity and equity goals.
- Eliminate barriers to achieving diversity and equity goals.
- Reimagine enrollment policies to advance institutional goals.
  - “inclusive” recruitment and outreach continue to be permissible.
  - Considering an applicant’s background, experiences, and perspectives associated with race or ethnicity in admissions is permissible.
  - Designing policies associated with socioeconomic status, wealth, geography, first-generation status, and more is permissible.
  - Collecting disaggregated data, including by race and ethnicity, continues to be permissible.
- Examine financial aid and scholarship policies and practices with care.
- Examine and promote a broader strategy to advance equity and diversity goals.
“…considering an applicant’s background, experiences, and perspectives associated with race or ethnicity in admissions is permissible.”
Chief Justice Roberts’ Opinion

“The Court expressly recognized… ‘nothing in this opinion should be construed as prohibiting universities from considering an applicant’s discussion of how race affected his or her life, be it through discrimination, inspiration, or otherwise.’

Favorable consideration in admissions for ‘a student who overcame racial discrimination, for example, must be tied to that student’s courage and determination;’ and ‘a benefit to a student whose heritage or culture motivated him or her to assume a leadership role or attain a particular goal must be tied to that student’s unique ability to contribute to the university.’”

Admissions Processes Considerations

Considering qualities or characteristics of a student based on their experiences.

1. An applicant describes the impact that being the only East Asian student in their rural high school had on their ability to overcome stereotype and prejudice.

2. A letter of recommendation details how a student overcame feelings of isolation being the first Black violinist in their school’s orchestra.

3. An applicant describes the impact learning to cook traditional Peruvian dishes had on her sense of self and leadership ability.

Curriculum Considerations

1. Curriculum may consider how:
   a. students’ lived experience may impact their practice skills.
   b. lived experiences of populations in practice areas may influence how a social worker must assess, engage, intervene, and evaluate practice.

2. Discuss course topics in the context of history, law, policy…

3. The non-prescriptive nature of the 2022 EPAS (competency-driven)

4. The 2022 EPAS Interpretation Guide can be used to help guide programs with example of implementation.
